

5. Evangelism. Wright uses many words to describe how the 'good news' might be rightly communicated. Which phrases do you find most winsome/compelling/attractive? By contrast, have you ever been evangelized in a naïve, tactless, frightening, or bullying way?

I thought the phrase "in the powerful announcement that God is God, that Jesus is Lord, that the powers of evil have been defeated, that God's new world has begun." (Wright, 227) was a compelling phrase. It clearly and simply stated what we believe and what God is doing in the world today.

This quote is very good, summarizes well the gospel message simply for people. The power of the gospel "does not lie in the threat of hellfire" (p. 227) but the promise of a salvation. The quote brings the beautiful message.

I like the 2nd quote because it tells us that through everything the truth of the gospel will be there to rely on.

5. Evangelism. Wright uses many words to describe how the good news is communicated. Which phrases do you find most winsome/compelling/attractive? By contrast, which phrases do you find most naive/tactless/frightening, or bullying way? Have you ever been evangelized in a naive, tactless, frightening, or bullying way?

I have been evangelized in a bad way before. It was a Jehovah's Witness and they asked me to go with them and pass out flyers. I felt as if I was being used all for the good of my own salvation.

Phrases - Just an approach that won't make the person feel forced Qn 2 - Yes, by the <sup>Islamic</sup> muslim religion (idk if it relates) but they took the approach of talking down on Christianity

Phrases: You are always welcome
Come if you're feeling compelled Allow God's Spirit to work in you
I see God working in you

Nice personal examples
here!